Hi Ross and Kirk, (and Jeff and Xiaofan)

Thanks for your help in making the wedding a success. One of our biggest joys, as parents, is to see how all three of you help and support each other. Kirk summed it up well in his Toast ... not alone, helping each other ... it's a work in progress ... and unconditional love. The three of you are best friends, you continue to help and support each other, and you treat each other, and those around you, with the greatest respect.

Pastor Gregg Davison continues to comment on how impressed he is with our sons! He has grown to know and respect all three of you in the few encounters he has had with all three of you. He really enjoyed the interaction at the wedding events on Fri eve and Sat. This afternoon he watched the video of Kirk's Toast. He loved it! And commented again about our sons!

It was a difficult adjustment for me after all three of you had left our home for college and work. You were an integral, important part of our lives ... and I missed having you around. But it is with equal joy and satisfaction that I see you mature into adulthood. You still are an integral, important part of our lives, even though we don't see you daily anymore. And for that we are grateful.

With deepest love and gratitude,

Dad
